Employee Reference Sheet

OptiMind Educational Strategies — prepared by Ruby Groves, Gemini Lane

Applies to · New EF Specialist hire    Status · Draft    Last updated · Aug 16, 2026

Overview

A day-to-day quick reference — where to find forms, which tools are in use today, who to contact, and what to know about data handling.

Current Tools

| NEED                     | TOOL                                                                    |
|--------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Scheduling               | Calendly, Zoom                                                          |
| Client agreements        | PandaDoc                                                                |
| Legacy intake forms      | JotForms                                                                |
| Session notetaking       | TBD — tool not yet selected (Sprint 02)                                 |
| Client file storage      | TBD — currently cloud storage; no independent, tested backup exists yet |
| Company email / calendar | TBD                                                                     |

Cancellation & No-Show Tracking

Early cancellations, late cancellations, and reschedules are logged as separate, distinct outcomes — not lumped into one "cancelled" bucket. See the No-Show & Cancellation Policy for the full protocol and billing terms.

Key Contacts

| WHO          | ROLE    |
|--------------|---------|
| Sarah Ritter | Founder |

Needs an answer before the specialist starts, not after: what's the protocol if a client discloses a self-harm or safety concern during a session? The intake form already screens for this history — there needs to be a clear, written answer for what the specialist does in the moment, not something improvised. This is flagged separately from the other open questions below because of how time-sensitive it is.

Open Questions for Sarah

1. What's the protocol if a client discloses a self-harm or safety concern during a session? (see above — highest priority)
2. Where do client files and records actually live today — which specific folders or tools, ahead of the Sprint 03 platform decision?
3. What's the company email/calendar setup for the new hire?
4. Is there any current backup process for client data the specialist should know about, given the independent-backup item on the roadmap hasn't shipped yet?
